Prayer of St. Magdalene

Dearest God
My heart
To Your most holy hands
With wounds I have adored
I do entrust.
If it is all you ask
And ask for nothing more
And if I had a thousand hearts to give My highest good
I would
In all the ways
And all of them
Though I have only one to give
And none may take this one from me
For it is only mine to give Take care of it
It is now your own
So then one day when I shall be
To stand before you, I shall see
The heart I have consigned to Thee
In your good hands I then shall find Let this be my final will
Of my faithful
Of my humble promise
And of my great love
To You.

Let Jesus Be Known

He simplified the rules of life
And come so we can live in full
He loved, beheld each one of us
To make us all his miracle

He freed us from every fear
And promised he'll be always near
He turned our work into a cause
Beyond his death for our cross.

But there are those who do not share
This knowing that he'd always care
To those who'd always humbly bare
Their consequential cross without despair.

Let Jesus be known
So that He may be loved
By all those who wonder
If they are beloved
Let us spread the Good News
That He seeks us to find Him
So that all of us know of His love.

He laughed, He cried, He walked with us
Because He wanted all to see
That He is just like one of us
Who trusted more on what we could be
He told us of a truth
That sets us free and showed us how to walk that path,
He's calling each of us this humble man from Galilee
To share to those who do not share
This knowing that he'd always care
To those who'd always humbly bare
Their consequential cross without despair.
